BAPTIST CELEBRATION.

Fiftieth Anniversary of the Denomina tion In Western Pennsylvania.

The semicentennial celebration of the organization of Afro-American Baptist churches in western Pennsylvania was begun in the New Rodman Street Baptist church, East End, Pittsburg, the Rev. O. S. Simms, pastor, Monday evening. Oct. 11, to continue until Wednesday, Oct. 20. The celebration took on the form of a jubilee and roof garden entertainment. There were sacred and secular gatherings, literary and musical exercises and a feast and fair in the main auditorium managed by a committee of 120 ladies. Many of the dignitaries of the church and leading men and women of the race both locally and from a distance, were present and participated in the celebration, while the members of all the se cret, benevolent and uniformed societies and lodges were specially invited. There was a complete change of program each night, the celebration oper ing with selections by a chorus of fifty voices made up from the choirs of different churches. The proceeds of the feast and celebration will be applied to the fund for the completion of the new church building, which when ready for use will be one of the finest erected by any Afro-American congregation in the city.

As late as 1859 there was no known Afro-American Baptist church in western Pennsylvania, and most of the persons of that denomination who locat gations of that form of faith or lost their identity by uniting with the African Methodist Episcopal churches where the first Afro-American Baptist church west of the Allegheny moun-As near as can be learned, what was tinctively Afro-American church of that denomination instituted in that vicinity. upon by the state department to discuss the report of the American commission which recently visited Liberia to make a study of conditions in that part of West Africa.

In speaking of conditions in Liberia a few days ago Dr. Lyon said:

"Liberia offers an excellent opportunity for the investment of American capital. The leading citizens of the republic believe that America can aid in its economic development. The trade now is controlled by the English and German peoples.

"The visit of the three envoys from the United States was especially pleasing to the ruling classes there, and they think it indicates a new day for Liberia. The commission was received enthusiastically and given every opportunity for learning conditions at first hand. The official report of the special commission is awaited with profound interest by leading citizens of the republic, who are hopeful that many matters favorable to the material well being of Liberia may be presented.

"The debt of Liberia is not very large, and conservative business men of that country believe that $3,000,000 will place the republic on its feet and make the way possible for an unparalleled commercial development. The national debt is about $1,250,000. The remainder of the $3,000,000 could be used in building railroads and other conveniences necessary to improve convation of coffee, cocoa, ginger and other products would give a new industrial meaning to the inhabitants. Fruit can be grown on an extensive scale; also cane growing can be made

"Liberians are making commendable progress along educational lines. The Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal and Baptist churches rendering a praiseworthy service.

"In a word, I believe Liberia offers opportunities for development far beyond the ideas of the average American.' Dr. Lyon has been minister to Liberia since 1903. His services have been eminently satisfactory to the government he represents and that to which he has been sent, and he has been decorated by Liberia with the Order of African Redemption for his disinterested services for the uplift of Liberians. This decoration is the highest honor that the government awards and is given only to those who render great services for the good of Africa.

Since his arrival in the United States vitations to speak at public functions. The citizens of Baltimore, his home city, have already given a grand reception in his honor.

AN EDITOR'S GOOD ADVICE.

Midnight Balls and Picnics Have Demoralizing Effect Upon Youth.

We heartily commend the editor of the Oakland (Cal.) Sunshine for the manly stand which he has taken in reference to the baneful effect which night picuies and balls have upon our youth. He says:

"We voice our disapproval of the custom of holding midnight balls, commonly called picnics. It is in no sense Dr. Lyon has been besieged with in- against the dance that we speak, but it is against the demoralizing effect of allowing young girls and even young boys to dance in a pavilion where drinks are served and with a saloon attached. Such a place has a bad influence on the young mind, and if our leading clubs, lodges and families support such a place it gradually grows on the young mind that it is proper. Many of the young people frequent such places unattended by either parents or guardians, and if burtful things are said against them no one is there to protect or dispute it, and one more stone is placed around his or her neck. Our lodges and clubs, which are supposed to represent our leading and most select women and men, should look out for the moral side of the thing as well as the pecuniary point. We do not believe in being antagonistic in the least, but a hint to the wise should be sufficient."

Three Cornered Color Line Fight. Out in Marshfield, Ore., the school authorities have drawn the color line against Afro-Americans and orientals. The result of this rank and uncalled for color discrimination so far is that only one pupil is in attendance, the little son of Gow Why, a Chinese merchant. There are a large number of Afro-Americans in the town, but they seriously object to their children being classified with orientals and insist upon sending them to the regular school. The situation is complicated, to say the least. It's a three cornered-white, brown and colored-fight, with no ref-

Lesson IV.-Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 24, 1909.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xxvi, 19-32. Memory Verses, 27-29-Golden Text. Il Tim. i, 12-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns. After being two years or more a prisoner at Caesarea, Festus being governor instead of Felix and having gone up to Jerusalem, the high priest and chief of the Jews inform him against Paul and desire him to bring Paul to Jerusalem, intending, if he consented, to lay in wait for him and kill him Festus replied that they must come to Caesarea and there appear against him This they did; but, as before, it was simply a case of complaints which they could not prove. In reply to Festus' question, "Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem and there be judged?" he appealed to Caesar. King Agrippa hav ing come to visit Festus, the case is brought to his attention as one of Jewish superstition concerning one Jesus who was dead, but whom Paul affirm ed to be alive (xxv, 19). The world cares just about as much today about Him of whom they spake as "one Jesus," and the church does not commend Him to the world much more, if any, than the Jews did their God. of whom they cried, "Hear, O Israel, vi, 4).

Agrippa and Bernice having entered the place of hearing with great pomp, accompanied by the chief captains and principal men of the city, Paul is brought before them, and, after a brief statement by Festus, Paul is permitted to speak for himself. He told of his early life as a Pharisee and his zeal against the followers of Jesus until the risen and ascended Christ met him on the way to Damascus, saved him and made him His messenger to the gentiles to turn them from darkness unto God, that they might receive forgiveness of sins and inheritance among them are sanctified by faith in Christ, He told how, in obedience to the vision from heaven, he had at Damascus Jerusalem, throughout Judea and to the gentiles preached that they should repent and turn to God and prove the reality of it in their lives: that all their prophets had testified that the Mes siah of Israel should suffer and die and rise from the dead and that He should through Israel, the twelve tribes, give light to the gentiles after the resurrection at the second coming of Christ. Along this line of truth as to the teaching of the prophets and the Messiah shall bless the world through

On the way to Damascus Jesus had

His body, who should by discipline here be fitted to come with Christ in His glory and reign with Him in His kingdom, when Jerusalem shall be the throne of the Lord and Israel a right-eous nation. It is our privilege, as it was Paul's, to go into all the world with the glad tidings of forgiveness of sins for all who will receive the Lord Jesus because of His suffering for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God. And all who His body, who should by discipline in this age truly receive Him shall be manifested with Him when Israel Six " " 1.40 shall see Him coming in the clouds One with power and glory and shall say, "This is our God; we have waited for Him, and He will save us" (Isa. xxv, 9). As to the mystery of this age xi, 25-27; xvi, 25, 26; Eph. iii, etc. We may be quite sure that that company of earth's great ones never heard a story like this before, and we do not wonder that Festus said with a loud voice, "Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad" (24). There are very few companies day know the story as Paul set it forth that day, and where there is a preacher who thus believes and teaches he is not apt to be counted a man of much learning, but, rather, an unlearned man, weakminded, mentally unbalanced. We can reply, as Paul did, "We are not mad, but speak forth the words of truth and soberness" (25). The test question is that which Paul addressed to Agrippa, "Believest thou the prophets?" for "surely the Lord God will do nothing, but He revealeth His secret unto His servants the prophets" (Amos iii, 7).

In Agrippa's reply there are three words which are specially full of significance, "almost a Christian." We think of another "not far from the state of Indiana, complaint against the above name of indiana, complaint and the said polaintiff having also filed in said clerk's of the Superior court of Marion county, State of Indiana, complaint against the above name of indiana, complaint against the above name of indiana, complaint and the said polaintiff having also filed in said clerk's office the affidavit of a competent person, show office the affidavit of a competent person, show ing that defendant, William H. nificance, "almost a Christian." We kingdom of God," but we remember that all who were not actually in the ark with Noah perished, and then those startling words, "He that hath not the Son of God hath not life;' "He that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him" (I John v. 12; John iii, 36). So that "almost a Christian" trave ing for a Corset nouse of that city, is in the city for a couple of Baptist church Thursday Oct. 14, for the meaning of that word? May none the benefit of the people of North who read ever know the doom of the lost. With a burning heart and with burning words Paul declared his longing that not only Agrippa, but all who heard him that day, might stand in Christ as he did.
